

April 1, 2020

Recent testing due to cold like symptoms have all returned negative for COVID-19.

Although clear for COVID-19, the residents tested do have respiratory syncytial virus (RSV). RSV mimics the common cold and usually clears up on its own within 7-10 days. We are well versed in managing RSV and staff are working hard to limit the outbreak to the 5th floor.

As always, family members are informed of any illness. If we do need to test due to influenza-like symptoms of suspected COVID-19, you will receive a call from a nurse and be informed as soon as the results are received.